Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

Dr. G. C. Osmond,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quick nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

Dr. J. F. Kitcheloe,
Conway, Ark.

The Centaur Company, 77 Murray Street, New York City.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. Ancher, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

The voting machine will soon crowd out the machine politicians who serve their country for $6 per day as judges and clerks of election. According to the New York Tribune, the Meyers voting machine which was used at Mount Vernon, one of the suburban towns of New York, last week, was a complete success. The voting was done rapidly and without any confusion or hitches, and within ten minutes after the closing of the polls the result was announced. Delegates were present from New York, Boston, Philadelphia and elsewhere, and all agree that voting by machine is the coming fad. It will be borne in mind that among the constitutional amendments to be voted on in this state at the general election in 1896 is a proposition to substitute the voting machine for the present slow and confusing ballot system.—Bee.

A GREAT DRAWBACK.

Herr Dowe's Wonderful Coat Not Only Bullet Proof, but Airtight.

After a series of thorough tests in Germany and London it has been demonstrated that Herr Dowe's coat cannot be penetrated by bullets. The impregnable quality of the stuff is seen in the fact that the German rifle, which can send a bullet at a distance of 100 yards through a thick steel plate, strikes harmlessly against the new coat of mail, which is described as "a wire netting incased in a cementlike mass." So in spite of much misgiving and considerable ridicule of his invention "the little tailor of Mannheim" is on his way to fame and fortune.

There is, however, one great drawback to the success of this invention, which puts its use by soldiers in the field practically out of the question. The coat, which weighs not less than six pounds, is as impervious to air as it is to bullets, and in a great battle more men would be stifled to death or rendered unfit for action by the wearing of such an apparatus over their breasts than could be saved by it. On going into action the first impulse of the soldier would be to strip off Dowe's coat and take the chance of a bullet through the breast in preference to suffocation. Highly desirable as it is that the terrible casualties of the battlefield should be lessened as much as possible, the practical utility of this novel armor is extremely doubtful. This, too, seems to be the conclusion of the German military authorities.

On the other hand, it is conceded that Herr Dowe's invention will be of great value for the construction of light barracks, batteries, army tents and boats and for many other uses in defensive warfare. If it shall possess all the qualities that are claimed for it, the material may largely supplant steel armor for men-of-war. But there are physical laws which make Herr Dowe's invention of no value to man or horse on the field of battle. It is not improbable, however, that improvements may remove or greatly lessen the difficulty of using the stuff as defensive armor for the individual soldier. At any rate, Herr Dowe has invented a material which is impenetrable by bullets, and this cannot be said of steel plates nor of any other known material of defensive armor.—Philadelphia Record.

A TREASURE CAVE.

Rediscovered, but It Has Already Caused the Death of Several Explorers.

The people of the town of Sabinas and surrounding country to the south of here are excited over the discovery of a bandit's cave in which a fabulous wealth is believed to be stored. The cave was the rendezvous of the famous bandit El Colorado and his followers, who terrorized all of northern Mexico about a century ago. It is situated in the Iguana mountains, near Sabinas, and was first discovered three months ago by an old man named Cuevas, who in some manner had just come into possession of a chart giving the location of the cave. He and three sons and four other relatives started to make an exploration of the cave. In an inner compartment they found a large pile of silver coin of ancient coinage. They had filled one sack with the money when they were all overcome with the fire damp with which the cave was filled, and only four of the party succeeded in reaching the open air alive.

Old man Cuevas was taken very sick as the result of his terrible experience and a few days ago died. On his deathbed he confided to the priest the secret of the cave, and a party of explorers was at once organized to visit and secure the treasure. It was headed by Silverio Garza, a prominent citizen of Sabinas. They were all driven out of the cave by the noxious gases, and two of the members of the party have died from the effects of the poison which they inhaled. The news of this second expedition had become public, and the authorities have placed guards at the cave to guard the treasure until further explorations can be made. The general government has been notified of the situation.—Lampasas (Mexico) Cor. St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

An Alleged New Metal.

The low price of silver in Paris has stimulated the inventive genius of a manufacturer, who has consequently made a new metal by means of an alloy of copper and silver, using the successful proportions of the two. He has really obtained an entirely new metal, one of a most extraordinary degree of strength and most valuable for resisting sudden or long sustained strains. There seems little doubt that the cost of production will not be so great as to prevent its large use in the future, even should silver greatly increase in value. To the low price of silver will be credited the idea of using it as an amalgam for a specially high class of metal.—London Court Journal.

General Caeceres.

General Andres Avelino Caeceres, the newly elected president of Peru, has a proud record as a soldier. He got a sub-lieutenancy at the age of 16 and steadily won promotion for gallant conduct on the field. For a year he was military attaché, while still young, to the Peruvian legation at Paris and traveled considerably over Europe. He was second vice president in 1881 and was re-elected to that office by congress in 1883. Chosen president in 1886, he had a difficult task to administer the affairs of a disordered country after defeat by Chile, but he filled the office for the full term with credit.—Chicago Herald.

Working Women.

In a recent discussion on the working woman's need of protection Mrs. Charles Russell (Josephine Shaw) Lowell declared that the right of ballot would inure to woman that protection for her labor that is now the privilege of men; that the rewards for her labor would be equivalent to the labor performed only when she had attained the suffrage and protection through the ballot box.

A VALUABLE FIND.

After years of study and labor there has at last been discovered a sure and never-failing remedy. It has been tested on patients who have despaired of ever being cured, and the results have been in every case wonderful. Goff's rheumatic cure is unequalled as a positive remedy in all cases of chronic and acute inflammatory rheumatism, gout, lumbago, sciatica and neuralgia; especially ovarian neuralgia, dysmenorrhoea and all kindred affections. It is also a valuable blood purifier, being especially useful in eczema, psoriasis, scrofula, all glandular enlargements and diseases of the liver and kidneys. It is absolutely free from all narcotics. Severe attacks are relieved in from one to three days and a positive cure effected in from five to eighteen days. For sale by McConnell & Co. 3-29-95.
